Looking Towards Sunday

"Save us, we beseech you, O Lord! O Lord, we beseech you, give us success! Blessed is the one who comes in the name of the Lord." – Psalm 118:25-26a

That's what the throngs of thousands – those who went ahead and those who followed – were shouting as Jesus entered Jerusalem riding upon a colt. The psalm's lyrics were part of the liturgy of the Jewish festival of Passover. They had traveled to the holy city for that reason...praying about freedom and picturing a society of peace and justice. Jesus' triumphal arrival was a beacon of hope. It signaled to them that the kingdom of God was close at hand.

The people begged him, "Please save us!" Which is how "Hosanna" is often translated. I've read this text many, many times; but never applied the Lectio Divina method. Thanks to Rev. Susan, I've discovered a different, deeper wisdom than in years past.

The shouting echoes across the ages and it resonates with our present-day pleading for success and salvation. It hurts my heart to hear it. I'll say more when I see you. The Palm/Passion Sunday sermon (based on Mark 11:1-11) is entitled: Hosanna's Hard Edge.

Be blessed. Be a blessing.

Rev. Fredd

What should GHIAA work on next? The answer will come out of small-group meetings where people are invited to share a story about an experience that happened to them or someone close to them -- something that made them think, "That's not right!" or "There ought to be a law against that!" The more people who share stories, the better chance we have of zeroing in on the most important issues that need our attention. Click here to register for one of the upcoming meetings. First Church is hosting several small-group meetings at First Church on April 14, 4:00-5:30pm, along with our partners Congregation Beth Israel and Westminster Presbyterian Church. If you can't make it on April 14, choose a session on another date, at another local GHIAA congregation. Any questions? Contact Linda Bronstein or Terry Schmitt.

Food for Thought's next meeting is Tuesday April 2 from 5:00-6:30 p.m. (Please note the time change!) to discuss The Measure by Nikki Erlick: "Today, when you open your front door, waiting for you is a small wooden box. This box holds your fate inside: the answer to the exact number of years you will live...Imagine waking up tomorrow with the opportunity learn when you will die. Would you want to know the date, or would you prefer to remain blissfully ignorant?" (Amazon) Tap here to join this group.
